

Newquay

The surfing capital of Cornwall has a decidedly boho vibe, and it's fun to watch the surfers ride the waves as they come rolling in off the Atlantic. During surfing festivals, Fistral Beach becomes the centre of the world for many, but family-friendly Newquay has plenty of other attractions to occupy everyone.

Discover Newquay's evolution from fishing port to surf mecca on the town trail, take a boat ride out to sea, browse the eclectic range of shops or get up close to a vast array of marine life at Blue Reef Aquarium.

ARRIVE 1129 | LEAVE 1333 (from outside rail station)

Newquay Zoo

Meet many of your animal favourites big and small, including lions, lemurs, otters, penguins, red pandas, lynx, armadillos, meerkats, plus a variety of different bird and reptile species.

There's also a village farm and Tropical House with poison dart frogs and beautiful birds from around the world. Children will love the play areas and activity trails. There's a gift shop and café.

ARRIVE 1122 | LEAVE 1325

Pentewan Sands

Sheltered from the wind and the swell, this lovely family friendly beach is a great spot for swimming, not to mention windsurfing, sea kayaking, water skiing and sailing. Canoes and sailing dinghies can be hired from the Holiday Park.

ARRIVE 1108 | LEAVE 1345

Padstow

Enjoy the harbour life, where fishing and pleasure craft rock side-by-side on their moorings, children fish for crabs and quayside inns, cafés, shops and galleries overlook the calm water.

It's also a foodie destination, so try some of Rick Stein's fish and chips, dine in his restaurant or visit Paul Ainsworth at Noó for some truly delicious food.

Take a boat trip or visit the fascinating National Lobster Hatchery. Soak up a little history at Prideaux Place, an Elizabethan manor house on the edge of the town with views towards Bodmin Moor.

ARRIVE 1118 | LEAVE 1335

Dairyland

Kids will love getting up close and personal with lambs, ponies, rabbits, guinea pigs, meerkats and other lovable animals. There's bottle-feeding, pat-a-pet and pony rides to enjoy.

They can enjoy a race around the go-cart track, take a tractor ride and have great fun in the Bull Pen with slides, ball pools, soft play areas and much, much more.

ARRIVE 1109 | LEAVE 1340

Fowey

With a rich maritime history, Fowey is a magnet for sailing fans. Explore the narrow streets of the medieval and Georgian old town and check out the independent shops selling unusual gifts, artwork, clothing and books in Fore Street. There are many tempting bistros, cafés and restaurants often serving local produce.

Take a trip on one of the pleasure boats that leave from the Town Quay steps, or the ferry across the harbour to Polruan and explore the narrow lanes that climb steeply through the village.

ARRIVE 1100
LEAVE 1400

Charlestown

Discover this unspoiled late Georgian working port, originally built to export copper and import coal, and well known today for featuring in film and TV dramas like Poldark.

Marvel at the fleet of square rigger tall ships in the harbour or head off for walks along on the South West Coast Path.

Look in at the Shipwreck, Rescue and Heritage Centre. It's in one of the old China Clay buildings and has exhibits relating to Charlestown's maritime history and Cornwall's shipwreck salvage.

ARRIVE 1050 | LEAVE 1405

Polperro

Step back in time in this unspoiled fishing village, once the haunt of smugglers. Here, an enchanting jumble of cottages cling to steep hillsides around a small harbour with spectacular views. There are several galleries in the village selling work by local artists and plenty of nice cafés and eateries.

There's also a small sandy beach just beyond the main breakwater.

ARRIVE 1125 | LEAVE 1330

Mevagissey

Wander through the narrow alleyways of this traditional Cornish fishing village, browse gift shops and art galleries, and try the local ale in one of the many pubs. It was once a centre for pilchard fishing and still has a tradition of boat building. You can learn the story of the village at the Mevagissey Museum.

The shallow harbour is full of fishing and pleasure boats coming and going and there are several cafés and coffee shops from which you can sit and watch them.

ARRIVE 1120 | LEAVE 1340

Lanhydrock

This National Trust house has the feel of a wealthy but unpretentious family home. Dating from Jacobean times, the house was refurbished in high-Victorian style after a fire. You can experience life 'below stairs', and compare it with the comforts of 'upstairs' living.

In the extensive gardens you'll find beautiful herbaceous borders and a formal parterre.

ARRIVE 1100 | LEAVE 1400

Tregrehan Gardens

Tucked into St Austell Bay and protected by hills, this sheltered oasis is one of Cornwall's great gardens. Admire towering conifers planted by early Victorian plant hunters and walk among woodland gardens.

This family-run, non-commercial setting is a delight and a wonderful space just to relax and unwind.

ARRIVE 1041 | LEAVE 1413

Pinetum Gardens

This 30-acre garden has one of the largest plant collections in the county. Enjoy 10 themed garden 'rooms' set in stunning parkland.

Discover fine herbaceous borders, water features, shrubberies, a formal garden, cottage garden, pinetum, arboretum and Japanese garden.

ARRIVE 1043 | LEAVE 1411

Lost Gardens of Heligan

Discover history, mystery and romance in gardens that had been lost to the brambles of time, until a chance discovery led to the restoration of this once great estate, now known to be among one of the finest gardens in England.

You can explore Victorian Productive Gardens and Pleasure Grounds along winding paths and stroll by rhododendron boughs, beside Maori-carved tree ferns and through an Italian Garden.

low cost travel to lots of Cornish destinations

... & home again

SUMMER 2021

We've made it so easy to get out and about to some great destinations in Cornwall without all the hassle of driving and parking.

The bus picks you up from close to where you're staying and takes you either directly, or with one simple change at The Eden Project (connection guaranteed), to any of the fantastic places shown on the other side of this leaflet. And brings you back later in the day.

Or you can just spend the time at the amazing Eden project (details on the right).

With all these great places to go, just choose a different one another day.

how does it work?

Get to the bus stop in good time - the camp site can tell you where it is if you're not sure - and raise your arm when you see the bus approaching.

The bus takes you to The Eden Project, where our friendly helpers are on hand to make sure you're on the right connecting bus for your destination, or will tell you if you can stay on the same bus.

Then in just a few minutes you're on your way for a great day out.

coming back

Make sure you're at the departure point so the bus can leave on time. At The Eden Project, our helpers will make sure you're on the correct bus to get home.

The Eden Project

This vast impressive global garden is housed in tropical biomes in a crater the size of 30 football pitches. Learn about the relationships between plants and people, and get a fascinating insight into the story of man's dependence on plant life.

'Travel' to far away places, walk above the treetops, experience the sights, smells and scale of the rainforests and discover the tropical plants that are used to produce everyday products. Kids can find out where tea, rubber and sugar come from. It's an amazing day out.
