discover... Warminster

Warminster is a handsome Wiltshire country town well worth a stroll round.

Historic buildings include Warminster Maltings, Britain's oldest working maltings, and Dents glove factory. Dents was founded in 1777 and has been supplying gloves for royalty since the reign of George III. It made the coronation gloves for Queen Elizabeth II.

There's a Farmers' Market on the first and third Friday of each month from 9am to 1.30pm in Central Car Park near the library, and a Friday Country Market at the library from 9.30 to 11.30am.

Bradford-on-Avon

It's not difficult to while away an hour or two in this lovely town with interesting shops and old buildings lining the narrow streets that rise up from the River Avon and its ancient bridge.

It can be a bit like a walk through time, for Saxons, Romans, Normans, Georgians and Victorians all have left their mark in the story of the town.

The small building on the bridge was originally a chapel, later used as a small prison or Blind House where local Bradford-on-Avon drunks and troublemakers were left overnight to cool off!

There are interesting independent shops to entice you and cafés and restaurants to sustain you.

Take discover to Warminster for a most unusual trip.

Once a year, old London Routemaster buses climb up from Warminster Station to isolated spots on Salisbury Plain that are normally closed to the public.

Travel along lonely roads that usually only echo to the sound of rumbling tanks on army training duties, and see the abandoned village of Imber. Villagers were evicted in 1943 to provide an exercise area for American troops preparing for the invasion of Europe in the Second World War. Imber has been under the control of the Ministry of Defence ever since.

No need to book in advance - just turn up and pay the conductor on the bus. Buses run up to every 15 minutes - really. It's great fun!
